

-25-

ABSTRACT

Systems and methods for despreading received spread spectrum signals are described. Despreading can be performed using both channel estimates and impairment correlation estimates. Techniques for selecting delays of interest are also described, along with a despreading mechanism which saves power by operating only on delays of interest.

T050T*16026660